HARDING TELLS 'EM TO AVOID THE TREASURY

President Wants To Help Unemployed and Calls Depression "War Inheritance"

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 26—The national unemployment conference, which the administration hopes will evolve a means of putting the nation's involuntary idle back to work, was formally opened today by President Harding.

Addressing a half hundred industrial economic and labor leaders comprising the conference, the president described the present industrial depression as "a war inheritance throughout the world" for which as it applied to the United States, he added, "he would have little enthusiasm for any proposed relief which seeks either palliation or tonic from the public treasury."

"Fundamentally sound and politically unafraid," the President said, "there ought to be work for everybody in the United States, who chooses to work." He asserted "our condition at home and our place abroad depends on everybody going to work with patriotism and devotion." He declared the "open, sure and onward way" to rid the nation of the war depression involved liquidation, reorganization, taking account of things done and sober contemplation of things to be done. "Any other way," he added, "is only hugging a delusion." He told the delegates they were not called to "solve long, controverted problems of our social system," but to speedily find a way to industrial convalescence.

Secretary Hoover told the conference it first should determine the volume of distribution and character of the nation's unemployment and evolve a series of emergency methods to meet the situation. It also should consider methods to be utilized if unemployment tides recurred.

Fans Saw A Great Game

The Reos and Irvine nines played a 13-inning tie, 1 to 1 at Lexington Sunday. Jim Park pitched for the Reos and Wright for Irvine. A number of fans from here were present. Pete Hisle played a nice game at short for the Reos and Earl Cambs did fine work in left. Park struck out 6 men and Wright 9. The Reos got 6 hits and Irvine 7.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Miss Sadie Tarter, of Lincoln county, has entered the Eastern Normal school.

Friends here will be glad to hear that Miss Mary Ballard, who has been a patient in the Good Samaritan hospital, Lexington, for the past three months, has sufficiently recovered to be removed to her home on Kentucky avenue.

Miss Mary Mereshon returns to her duties in Cincinnati Sunday after a two weeks' visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mereshon, on West Main street.

Messrs Bruce and Burbridge Ratliff, of Mt. Sterling, have bought the Ravenna meat and grocery market and will move with their families at an early date.

Mr. Robert Tribble has returned from a business trip to Estill county.

A million more horses on the farms of the United States in 1920 than in 1910—this is the report of the American Horse Association, gathered from the census. In the first quarter of 1921 there were sold at auction in Boston, at one stable, 5,000 horses as against 4,000 for the same quarter in 1920. These were horses of the type shipped in from the West, heavy draft horses.

Messrs Orie Lebus and Son, of Cynthia, had the distinction of having the Grandchampion Hampshire Sow at the Kentucky State Fair, winning on a sow bred by them. They also bred her sire and dam. She defeated herds from Missouri, Illinois and Tennessee, including a sow from Missouri that has already been several times Grandchampion this year. This is the first time Harrison county has had the honor to furnish a hog that was made a grandchampion at a State Fair.

SAYS U. OF K. NEEDS MORE EQUIPMENT

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 26—The need of money to pay for additional teachers, new buildings and equipment is greater than the need of money to increase the pay of instructors and professors now at the institution, the executive committee of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky declared in a letter mailed to newspapers throughout the state. The letter calls attention to the emphasis given in newspaper articles and editorials to the need of funds to pay increased salaries.

"Attention of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees of the University has been called to the emphasis given in newspaper stories and editorials to the need of greater funds to pay increases in salaries," says the letter. "The committee recognizes that salaries paid here are not as high as they should be but the needs of the university as a whole are so many and so great that it feels that emphasis should be laid elsewhere."

"The thirty per cent increase in students this year over last creates a need for more teachers. Recitation room and laboratories for instructional purposes are limited. New buildings are required now and the need will be greater from year to year. The equipment of our laboratories and class rooms is insufficient and hardly up to the standard that should be provided for the young men and women sent here from Kentucky's high schools."

"The steady and marked increase in students enrolled at the university in the last few years and the interest in the cause of education manifested recently throughout the state. The logical basis for a much greater increase in attendance here in the next few years should bring out the importance of emphasizing the need for the Kentucky legislature to provide additional buildings and equipment and an increased teaching staff."

There were about 20 hounds at the show and Mr. Powell says that they were about the best bunch of hounds he has been up against this year.

MISS BENNETT ON Y. W. C. A. COMMITTEE

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 26—A Young Women's Christian Association for each Young Men's Christian Association in Kentucky is planned as a result of a co-operative agreement, made public here today, between the Young Women's Christian Association of Kentucky and the Y. M. C. A. The plan contemplates the affiliation of work among the young women and girls of each city where there is a Y. M. C. A. but no Y. W. C. A. Kentucky is the first state to arrange such co-operation.

The cities of Louisville, Lexington and Elizabethtown, where the Y. W. C. A. is well established, are not included in the plan.

The plan came through a series of conferences between P. C. Dix, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, and national officials of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Lavina Bonner has been named field secretary for the Y. W. C. A. and will have charge of the women's work. She will have an office here and will be assisted by Miss West.

The plan contemplates the extension of girls work among the lines now followed in the boys work. There will be Older Girls' Conferences, a Girls' State wide Bible Study contest, Mother and Daughter banquets, organization of high school clubs, lectures and play demonstrations. The Y. M. C. A. now holds Older Boys' conferences, Bible study classes, Father and Son banquets and plans other affairs for boys and men.

Financial support for the Kentucky work will be arranged in the Y. M. C. A. budget and includes provision for a full-time secretary and other expenses.

In furtherance of the work a Kentucky Advisory Committee today was named and includes the following women:

Mrs. Malcom Bullitt, Louisville; Miss Juliet Poynter, Shelbyville; Miss Belle H. Bennett, Richmond; Miss Lucy Sims, Paris; Miss Anna Thomas, Frankfort; Miss Tom Henry Clay, Jr., Paris; Mrs. French Hoge, Frankfort; Mrs. Lewis N. Davis, Ashland; Mrs. Lafon Riker, Harrodsburg; Mrs. M. H. Shinkle, Covington; Miss Eugenia Young, Danville; Miss Ellen Cochran, Maysville; Miss Belle Breck, Versailles; Miss Sallie Ashbrook, Cynthia, and Mrs. W. M. McCarty, Owensboro.

In announcing the plans for co-operative work, it is stated that twenty states already have asked the Kentucky secretaries to supply them with details of the plan as it is being worked out.

ENCOURAGING NEWS FROM DEMOCRATS

Committee Members and Candidates Hold Meeting—Registration Tuesday, Oct. 4

Next Tuesday, October 4th, is Registration Day in the city of Richmond, and those who expect to vote in the county election in November and reside within the city limits, must get their names on the Registration books. Registration is held at the usual voting precincts in the city and by the regular officers of election. The County Board of Election Commissioners late last week named the election officers, who will conduct both registration and the election.

The new Democratic county executive committee, composed of a man and a woman from each of the 30 precincts in the county, met with the candidates and campaign committee Saturday. Dinner was served at the Masonic temple, and it resulted in a regular old-fashioned democratic love feast. County Chairman J. J. Greenleaf and Campaign Chairman Harvey Chennault jointly presided and made short talks. After which the workers discussed various phases of the campaign. Every committeeman and committeewoman, with one or two exceptions, caused by illness, were present. Many brought encouraging news from their precincts and the feeling seemed to be general that old Madison will be returned to the Democratic fold in November by a substantial majority. In many precincts both men and women have gone to work for the splendid ticket with enthusiasm. All efforts will be centered now on getting out the full democratic registration to the polls next Tuesday. The polls open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 9 o'clock at night for registration purposes. The full list of election officers named is as follows, the first and last named officer in each precinct being the democrats and the second and third the republicans:

MILITARY HONORS FOR DEAD HERO

Legion Marches Beside Body of Comrade To Cemetery and Fires Volley Over Grave

With full military honors and a volley from rifles fired over his final resting place, the body of Lieut. Stephen B. Marcum, who was killed in the Argonne forest in 1918, was buried in the Richmond cemetery Sunday afternoon. "Owing to not having had equipment before, only delegations of respect have been sent to by the Jesse M. Dykes Legion Post when the bodies of dead heroes have been brought home for burial. But the Legion was equipped Sunday, and with the band leading, and a score of men marching with the infantry squad in the lead, the boys accompanied the remains of Lieut. Marcum from Muncy's undertaking parlors to the cemetery. Then Chaplain Dr. Telford conducted the legion burial service and the volley was fired over the grave. A large gathering of other friends and loved ones attended these last rites. Lieut. Marcum was a son of Mrs. Christina Marcum, of Boonesboro, and died while fighting valiantly in the great battle of the Argonne Woods.

SOME UNUSUAL PLAYS OF WORLD'S SERIES

Championship Diamond Battles of Past Were Featured By Brilliant Plays

(By Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 26—Unusual plays, brilliant performances of individual players and freaky things have entered into many of the series for the world's baseball championship. Such occurrences are recalled each year in fandom and lend to the speculative interest in the championship games about to be played.

The outstanding feature of the series in 1908, in which the Chicago Cubs defeated the Detroit Tigers, was the hurling of Pitchers Overall and Brown, of the Cubs. Overall won two games, the second, in which he allowed the Detroit four hits and won six to one, and the fifth in which he allowed three hits and won two to nothing. Brown shut out the Tigers in the fourth game, three to nothing. The Tigers getting but three hits off weird delivery.

In 1909, "Babe" Adams, the veteran Pittsburgh hurler, won three games for the Pirates, the first, fifth and seventh against Detroit. Hal Wagner, the Pirate shortstop, played brilliantly, as did Moriarty, the Detroit third sacker.

Bender and Coombs pitched and won the entire series for the Athletics against the Cubs in 1910. Coombs won all three games in which he started and Bender won one and lost one. Eddie Collins performed brilliantly afield and at the bat for the Mackmen. The Cubs were favorites to win in the series.

The home runs of Frank "Home Run" Baker contributed largely to the Athletics victory over the Giants in the series of 1911. In the second game Baker's home run put the Athletics in the lead and his homer in the third game tied the score after the Giants appeared to have the game on ice.

Thrills aplenty were had in the 1912 games between the Boston Red Sox and the New York Giants. In the eighth game at Boston, on October 16, the score was tie in the ninth. The Giants scored one in the tenth and led. Harry Hooper robbed them of a run that may have staved off defeat by leaning over the fence and taking Doyle's long hit which would have been a homer. Then disaster befell the Giants in Boston's half. Snodgrass muffed a long fly by Engle who batted in place of Wood, the Boston hurler, whose hand was injured in the previous inning, when he stopped Catcher Meyer's hard liner. Engle took second the muffed. Snodgrass then made a magnificent catch of Hooper's fly which seemed good for three bases. Mathewson tried all his cunning to strike out Yerkes, and failed. Yerkes walked. Speaker hit the first ball pitched for an easy foul which should have been caught by first baseman Merkle. As it occurred later, by capturing this foul Merkle would have saved the game for the Giants, for Speaker singled, sending Engle across the pan with the tying run. Yerkes stopped at third. Gardner sent a long fly to Devore and Yerkes sped across with the winning run.

In 1913, the Athletics won from the Giants again. One of the bright spots in this series was the great pitching duel between Mathewson for the Giants and Plank for Athletics in the second game. The Giants won in the tenth inning, batting Plank for three runs. Barry, Collins, and Baker the great Athletic infielders, performed well. Bender pitched Philadelphia to victory in two games.

The Boston Braves, who made a great fight in the National league and won their way from the pennant, upsetting all dope in 1914 by winning four games straight from the world's champion Athletics. Little John Evers pulled one of the greatest "bone head" plays in world's series history in the tenth inning of the third game. With the bases full, Baker hit a hard grounder to John. John juggled the ball and looked dumb while two men crossed the plate.

The hitting and fielding of Geo. Duffy Lewis featured the 1915 series between the Boston Red Sox and the Philadelphia Nationals. He drove in Speaker with the Sox's only run in the eighth inning of the first game. In the fourth game his two-bagger sent across the winning run for Boston in the sixth inning. He collected three of his team's hits off Alexander in the third game which the Sox won in the ninth on his single which drove in a run. More than 43,000 persons witnessed the game.

Harry Hooper, of the Boston Red Sox, the same player who saved his team the series in 1912 by catching Doyle's long hit as it went over the fence, played a brilliant game for his team in the series of 1916 against Brooklyn. Stories of Great Scouts

SOUTH SEA ISLANDER WHO WAS CROOK'S FAVORITE SCOUT

"I would rather lose a third of my army than to have Frank Guard killed," once declared Gen. Frank Crook, and when this great Indian fighter set such a high value on the services of a scout it meant that Frank Guard was without a peer. Guard was born in Tahiti in 1850, the son of an American trader and a native woman. His father returned to this country when Frank was but two years old and at the age of fifteen Frank ran away from home and went to Montana.

Guard became a mail carrier, a dangerous job in a country full of hostile Sioux. They captured him finally and were preparing to kill him when a young brave pleaded for his life. Calling their attention to Frank's swarthy complexion he declared that the mail carrier must be an Indian who had been captured by the whites.

This Indian was the renowned Sitting Bull. For 19 months Guard was guarded closely and, realizing the uselessness of attempting to escape, he learned the Sioux tongue and entered into the Indian life as one of them. He lived with the Indians six years before he finally escaped.

One day Guard was scouting for an officer who attempted to guide his command by use of the compass. They became lost in a blinding snow storm. Frank borrowed the officer's compass, smashed it against a rock, and then, taking the lead, he guided the soldiers straight to the place they wished to go.

Guard's greatest exploit was his part in the "Sibley Scout" in 1873. Lieut. S. W. Sibley was sent out on a scout to find the Indians. He found them, and in a short time his little command was surrounded by hundreds of Sioux and Cheyennes. After a desperate fight in which the Cheyenne chief, White Antelope, was killed, the soldiers were forced to abandon their horses and attempt escape on foot.

MORAN AT DANVILLE COACHING ELEVEN

(By Associated Press)

Danville, Sept. 26—With more than a score of players, anyone of whom would be able to make the average varsity football eleven, "Uncle Charlie" Moran, veteran football coach at Centre, today will take charge to whip the Colonels into shape for the first contest next Saturday of one of the heaviest schedules ever undertaken by a Kentucky college team. "Uncle Charlie" has been completing his engagement as an umpire in the National League and meantime the preliminary work of the squad has been in charge of Capt. Armstrong, "Bo" McMillan and Athletic Director Meyers.

During the latter part of last week the squad was put through a number of hard scrimmages in which, according to observers, there was a remarkable lack of fumbling for so early in the season. "Bo" McMillan looked exceptionally good, it was stated, in these scrimmages with Gordy and Glass working in the backfield with him and Ingerton and Bradley looked especially good at end.

All of the old men reported in the best of condition.

The hospital squad is rapidly rounding into shape although Hope Hudgins, freshman half-back, is still nursing a broken nose sustained in the first scrimmage of the season. Capt. Armstrong, who suffered a "charley horse" as a result of a strain in scrimmage, is expected to be back in the line in a day or two.

Tides in the Gulf of Mexico are inconsequential, ranging from 13 to 24 inches.

Louisville Man Is Glad He Gave Tanlac A Trial For It Completely Restored His Health

"In three weeks I picked up ten pounds in weight and I can say that Tanlac will do all they say it will," said Barney Johnson Lee, 2220 Lyons avenue, Louisville, Ky.

"Back in February I had a spell of the 'flu' that left me all run down and my stomach out of order. After I went back to work I was so weak I could hardly hold out during the day. My appetite was so poor I had to force down enough to keep me alive and it always soured on my stomach and caused me no end of trouble. My nerves were unstrung, it was next to impossible for me to get a good night's sleep, and I was just about played out.

"I had heard about Tanlac and when I saw the statement of Rev. Charles Sanders, of Huntington, W. Va., I decided to try it. My appetite picked up right away and in a few days the indigestion commenced to leave me. Altho I have taken only two bottles of Tanlac I have gained ten pounds, my nerves are strong and I sleep like a top every night. I am as well and strong as I ever was and feel like my old self again."

MODEL BEATS PAINT LICK BY 10 TO 0

Model High School opened the football season right on the Normal field Saturday with a 10 to 0 victory over the Paint Lick Hi. The local lads played below last season's form, but managed to shove across a victory. The Model eleven showed that they need a good deal more practice along all the lines of the game before they tackle a stronger eleven. The Blue and White line held the Paint Lick aggregation so well that their goal was never in danger throughout the contest. William Crutcher was elected captain of the Model eleven on Thursday and played a fair game against Paint Lick but was handicapped by an ankle that was slightly sprained a week ago and had not fully recovered.

Model scored in the first quarter when they carried the ball within striking distance of the goal but failed to gain in two more attempts. Berman then drop-kicked the goal near the thirty yard line which was enough to win the contest. The drop-kick was a perfect one, splitting the goal posts directly in the middle and carrying a good deal over the middle of the bar.

Model made most of her gains on forward passes, but handled quite a few badly. The forward pass was responsible for the touchdown Model scored in the third quarter. James Carr received the ball from William Crutcher behind the goal and W. Crutcher kicked the goal after the touchdown.

Berman exhibited some fine broken field running in the third quarter which put Model in position to score the touchdown. His end runs also netted good gains while neither side did much through the line.

Model's next game is with Lancaster Hi on the Normal grid-iron next Friday while Madison Hi goes to Midway for their first game. The lineup:

SAW 'SHINERS ATTACK BAPTIST MEETING

Local Real Estate Man In Pike County When Outlaws Started Attack

F. P. Caldwell, of the Freeman Realty Company, of Richmond, saw the moonshiners' attack on the church meeting at Pikeville Sunday about which the papers have carried big dispatches. He was in Pike county with a farm customer, when the excitement started.

Pastors and laymen from scores of churches in several counties had gathered in a little church at Sycamore for the annual conference. There they denounced the evil influences which have caused a wave of lawlessness unprecedented in the mountains. They scored moonshiners and bootleggers and all who gave sympathy to the liquor traffic. Resolutions pledging efforts of the association toward stamping out the evil were adopted.

The lawless element in the community began to manifest its aversion to the convention and more than one hundred men, many under the influence of liquor, raided the meeting, running off the preachers, shooting the convention's Bible to pieces and taking charge of the church and grounds.

When a posse of officers went after them, Peter Blackburn, said to have been leader of the gang, again justified his boast "I never will be arrested."

The Jockey Grounds, located not far from the Baptist church, had been transformed into a huge saloon with more than 100 gallons of moonshine on sale. Scores of horse traders thronged the grounds while bootleggers and moonshiners were engaged in disposing of their wares.

When United States Marshal Potter and his eight picked Deputy Sheriffs approached, they divided forces. Several were sent to guard the entrance at each end of the grounds. The others swooped down. Drunken men and bootleggers scattered and fled madly on foot or horseback.

Blackburn attempted to draw his revolver on Potter. But a warning shot from the marshal, and one from a fellow officer passed the outlaw and he continued his ride through the gauntlet of officers and escaped.

Bottles of moonshine were hurled in every direction by the fleeing bootleggers and drunken men and one of the deputies said he readily bottled one to the top of a hill by bottles he threw away in his flight.

Disappointed that so many escaped, the officers returned with Homer Cline, Ingram Steph, Bill Burchett and Ivan Scaff, all of whom are held on liquor charges. Examining trials will be given to them before United States Commissioner W. K. Steele.

Burchett is the republican candidate for Justice of the Peace in the Buffalo magisterial district in Floyd county.

The Baptist Association meeting has been resumed and no further interruption is looked for.

SWIFT'S PRODUCE REVIEW

Although less cream has been received at the creameries, the market is not quite so firm, due to the large quantity of underscoring butter reaching the market. Considerable butter of the finer qualities is being withdrawn from storage to meet the demand for the quality.

Two shipments of Danish butter, one small and the second a larger shipment, are reported. Danish butter is usually of very fine quality. Better care of the cream on the farm and more frequent marketing will tend greatly to improve the quality of the American product.

Egg records are lighter, which is natural at this season, and there has been an advance in the paying prices throughout producing sections.

Receipts of poultry have been ample for current requirements, and the market is closing a little easier. It is reported there is a
